

DOCTOR CHADWICK ACCUSED OF CRIME

With His Wife He Is Indicted for Forging and Uttering
Carnegie Note.

IS NOW CROSSING OCEAN.

Ohio Authorities Make Arrangements to Secure His Extradition as Soon as He Lands in New York.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 22.—Doctor Leroy S. Chadwick and his wife, Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, were jointly indicted by the county Grand Jury this afternoon on the charge of having forged and uttered a $5,000 note signed Andrew Carnegie.

Doctor Chadwick is now on his way to New York from Paris, and is expected to land next Wednesday. As soon as the indictment was returned Sheriff Barry of this county made arrangements to secure Doctor Chadwick's extradition. He will meet the steamer on its arrival.

This is the third time that Mrs. Chadwick has been indicted by the county Grand Jury, but it is the first instance of her husband's name appearing in legal proceedings in the case. The indictments already returned against Mrs. Chadwick are similar to the one voted to-day, except that they cover notes of $250.00 and $500.00 signed Andrew Carnegie.

Mrs. Chadwick was reclining on a couch before her cell in the jail when she was informed this afternoon of the action of the Grand Jury. She appeared not the least concerned, and asked only if there had been any one else indicted, mentioning the name of a person who has figured in the case to some extent. She declined to make any comment, saying:

"I will do me no good to discuss my affairs in the newspapers. There has been so much misrepresentation that I have decided to do no further talking, and I am also acting on the advice of my attorney in this respect."

There are many things which Doctor Chadwick will have to explain, and I hope he will do so, said Prosecutor Reeder this afternoon. Doctor and Mrs. Chadwick may be tried on the indictment separately or together. Each has a right to a trial singly, if it is desired. The juries will finish their work Saturday night. The Chadwick investigation, so far as this jury is concerned, is closed, but I cannot say that this concludes our inquiry into this matter. It is possible that there may be other developments.

The jury has spent more than two weeks in its investigation of the Chadwick affair. Mrs. Chadwick was in better health to-day than she has been for some time. Her only visitors are her attorney, and occasionally her son, Frank Howard Chadwick. Harry has allowed him to see her, contrary to jail rules.

Nathan Lewis, receiver for the Chadwick property, who is trying to locate assets for the benefit of creditors, said today that he had obtained information concerning the whereabouts of the truck and suitcases belonging to Mrs. Chadwick in New York during her stay there. He expects to recover them, but does not know if they contain valuables.

NEWTON TO BRING CIVIL SUIT AGAINST CHADWICK.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 22.—On behalf of Herbert D. Newton it was authoritatively stated to-night that civil proceedings in his interests would be instituted against Doctor Leroy S. Chadwick upon the latter's return to this country.

The action will be brought for recovery on paper given by Doctor Chadwick to Mr. Newton and having a face value of $500.

Mr. Newton has called to Southampton and satisfied himself that Doctor Chadwick is a passenger on the Hamburg-American Line steamer Pretoria, which has sailed for New York.

WANTS HIS HEART EXAMINED.

Stranger Kills Himself in Houston, Leaving Body to Clinic.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Houston, Tex., Dec. 22.—A distinguished-looking stranger, about 50 years old, who arrived in the city two days ago, and secured lodging at the Talbot House, committed suicide this morning by taking chloroform.

Before swallowing the poison he left a brief will, bequeathing his body to the nearest clinical college, and requested that an especial examination be made of his heart, which had troubled him in a way that mystified physicians. He signed the document, "I, M. E. Foster, of my own free will and without duress, do hereby bequeath my body to the nearest clinical college, Philadelphia."

Coroner Matthews believes to-night both are fictitious, for wire communication with Philadelphia reveals that no such street exists. Deceased was smooth-shaven, neatly and neatly dressed. His home address as Ninety-seventh street, Philadelphia.

No clew has been found as to the direct cause of the tragedy.

FARMERS' TELEPHONE LINE.

Each Wire Will Supply Twenty Houses on Fountain System.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Waterloo, Ill., Dec. 22.—The Farmers' Fountain Telephone Company was organized here to-day, and will soon begin the work of constructing three lines of twenty telephones each, all on one wire. The farmers will construct the line, and then pay the expense among themselves. The cost of maintenance will also be prorated.

New Hanover is to be the central exchange for all these lines. Waterloo, Columbus and New Hanover will be the three towns connected by the lines. It is probable that the lines will be extended throughout Monroe County, should the system prove successful.

SCHNEIDER HOPES TO PROVE ALIBI

Youth Charged With Murdering
Saloonkeeper Has Preliminary Hearing.

SAYS DESCRIPTION FITS HIM.

Emergency Policeman Swears
Positively That Defendant Is Hatless Man He Met on Night of Robbery.

The preliminary hearing of John Schneider, charged with the murder of Charles Mertzberg, was called in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday, and both sides announced themselves ready for trial. Schneider is charged with killing Mertzberg in his saloon at Mississippi and Chouteau avenues on the morning of November 30.

That morning two men entered the place by different doors and commanded the persons in the saloon to throw up their hands. According to the testimony, Charles Salisbury, of No. 197 LaSalle street refused to comply with the robbers' demands, and while he was scuffling with one of the other shot him. In the fight which followed Mertzberg was shot and killed.

At the hearing yesterday it was shown that one of the robbers shot his hat in escaping from the saloon. A hat, found near the scene, was put in evidence. The emergency Special Policeman, identified the man as a criminal. He testified that he met a hatless man near Eighth and Walnut streets on the night of the murder, whose description fits Schneider.

When Schneider was pointed out to Coroner Matthews he said that he had never seen him without a hat on that night. No other witness for the State was able to make a complete identification. Carmody, James Storik and Charles Salisbury, who witnessed the killing, said that Schneider is about the build of the robber, and that the voice is similar, but as the lower part of the robber's face was covered with a black cloth neither could say that Schneider was the man.

The defense puts its principal reliance on an alibi, which it hopes to prove by a young woman, whom Schneider visited on the night of the murder, by those who saw him in the house at that time, and by Charles Shadr of No. 223 Texas avenue, who said that he slept in the room with Schneider after 11:30 p. m.

The case will be continued in the Court of Criminal Correction this morning. The general opinion is that Schneider will be held. Should he be committed in this case, there is a warrant for robbery standing against him. A decision will be rendered today. Attorney Flickinger is counsel for the defense.

Complaints About Fair Charges.

Jack, Miss. 11.—According to a letter received from R. H. Henry, Mississippi Commissioner at the World's Fair, trouble is being encountered in getting shipments of exhibits out of St. Louis on account of the inadequate facilities of the Fair Association and the large amount of red tape required by the officials. Commissioner Henry also complains of the rates being charged for storage and packing, and says that it will be the latter part of February before all of the exhibits are shipped from the Fair city. Thus far none of the Mississippi exhibits have been moved except those forwarded by express.

BRINKMEYER GIVES HIS SIDE OF CASE

Defendant in Divorce Suit Says
He Was Good to His Wife.

CLAIMS SHE WAS "COLD."

Told Him Not to "Slobber" Over
Her When He Tried to Kiss
Her—Cross Examination to Take Place To-Day.

Former City Councilman John G. Brinkmeyer testified yesterday afternoon in Judge Ryan's division of the Circuit Court in the trial of the divorce suit of his wife, Mrs. Mollie Brinkmeyer. The trial was adjourned from last Friday.

Brinkmeyer gave his occupation as manager of property owned by himself, and said that he was born and raised in St. Louis, and has lived here fifty-two years. He was married in 1880 and obtained his first piece of real estate in 1885 or 1887. He said the property was given to him and Mrs. Brinkmeyer by her father.

Brinkmeyer was educated in the hard-ware business, and his father-in-law told him that if he would move his store to a lot he owned at North Market and Twenty-fifth streets that he might have the lot. The deal was made on in his and his wife's name.

A little later he bought property at No. 253 North Market street for a residence. He next bought flats at No. 234 North Market street.

He said that his wife kept seeking to induce him to convey to her one-half of the lot her father had given to them. He said that he gave her $250 in cash, and made over to her the residence at No. 253 North Market street, the flats at No. 234 North Market street, and gave her a deed of trust for $2500 amounting to all about $500.

His own holdings consist, he said, of deeds of trust for $2000, $3000 and $4000; ninety-eight shares of stock in the Northwestern Realty Company, $700 worth of stock in the Anchor Real Estate Company and a note of the Brinkmeyer Hardware Company for $2500, all together, about $8000.

He said that he treated his wife as a husband should and took her and his family traveling, and she and the children went on trips by themselves, and that all had plenty to eat and drink, and that all had plenty to wear and that he denied that he called his wife bad names, and said that she called him bad names.

He said he may have uttered a mild curse occasionally in the house, but nothing more.

TOLD NOT TO KISS HER.
His wife was told to him, he said, and when he would attempt to kiss her that she would turn away and tell him not to "slobber" over her.

He said that she complained a good deal about money matters, and fussed about all sorts of things.

He stated that he learned she had detectives to watch him.

He kept an account of the family living expenses for the year 1903, and exhibited a memorandum. He spent that year for living, $7,000. He said this included two wedding gifts of $250 each to his daughters.

His first information of the divorce suit was when he read of it in the papers in Hot Springs, Ark. Shortly before departing for Hot Springs there was a general reconciliation meeting, accompanied by a transfer of property, he said. He went to Hot Springs to rest up and kissed all of the family when he departed. His cross-examination will take place to-day.

When the court resumed yesterday the examination of Mrs. Mollie Brinkmeyer, daughter of the Brinkmeyers, who testified previously, was taken up. She said there was no cause for the divorce suit and for that reason she sided with her father. She said that she had spoken to her mother only once since the suit was filed.

Otto Brinkmeyer, brother of the defendant, testified to having made efforts to effect a reconciliation between his brother and wife.

Dr. William Kuhlmeier, a North St. Louis druggist, testified to having sold Mrs. Brinkmeyer a certain drug. In cross-examination he said that the drug might be used for legitimate purposes.

Something About the Library

THIS magnificent library contains about 2,000 pages of text, clearly and beautifully printed on heavy paper. Within its covers are found nearly sixty stories, representing the best work of over fifty of the great American writers. (See list above.) These stories are of the present day, and are really the best, as well as the highest priced, produced in the world, simply because American authors are writing pure, terse, vigorous English, and develop their plots with skill and power without undue prolixity. It is the cream of these stories which has gone into the "Library of American Fiction," and the list of authors given above will show how enormously valuable is such a library in the home where the mothers wish their children early to form correct tastes in literary matters. It is not too much to say that in variety of style, in richness of interest, and in real value in the home, this set of books is absolutely unequalled, and we strongly and urgently recommend it to our readers.

From a bookmaking standpoint the "Library of American Fiction" is most beautiful. The type is large and the books are exquisitely printed on a fine quality of toned paper, especially chosen for this work. Each volume is strongly and richly bound in silver-grey watered cloth, which has the appearance of fine silk. In all respects the set is a model of elegant workmanship. The ten volumes will be carefully packed for shipment in a neat box. Our extraordinary "Special Introductory Offer" is made solely for the purpose of placing a few sets in every city or town where there will be a chance to see the set itself and bring more orders. Our own subscribers and readers will have the exclusive benefit of our low introductory prices. The offer is good for a limited time only, and will be withdrawn as soon as the first (small) edition is exhausted. Prices to the general public will then be advanced, but until we give notice to this effect the readers of this page and their friends may take advantage of the "Special Introductory Offer."
